The Earliest History of India and Civilization.

Although more than a century has passed since the rise of the British power in India, the real history of the country has not yet been given to the world in any authentic shape. For fifty years past, Englishmen, and for a century a few learned Frenchmen and Germans have been studying Sanscrit, and have proved that the Greeks and all the German nations must have obtained their language from the same roots that are now being studied as Sanscrit in India, thus opening up to us treasures of the most ancient poetry, religion, history, manners and customs. But no comprehensive results like a fair history of India has been attempted. We know that from the earliest times the rich commerce and manufactories of India have been highly prized, that Alexander penetrated to the Indus, and that in the tenth and twelfth centuries the Mohommedans overran the country. But of the real origin of Hindostanee history we are now only just beginning to get the first glimpse.

J. Talboys Wheeler, Assistant Secretary to the Government of India, in the Foreign Department, by accident found in the library of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, a manuscript translation, of the bulk of the Maha-Bharata, supposed to have been made by the late Professor H. A. Wilson. This work, written after the system of castes was established in India, and the Brahminic period, yet gives, in a mythical or poetic form, a picture of the early history of India, at about the time when the Vedas, of earliest religious hymns, handed down to us, were composed. From this poem the author has just published Vol. I. of "The History of India from the Earliest Ages. "The Vedic period may be said to extend back from somewhere about B. C. 1500 to 2000—that is, from about the time of Moses, or three to five hundred years before. The Rig Veda is the earliest [illegible] which has come down to us, so far as we know. But the MahaBharata enables us to reconstruct a vivid portrait of the state of India, round about Delhi, at that period."

Round about Delhi, on the banks of the Indus, a white race, distinguished as Ayrans, had then established themselves as a conquering people. This Ayran race had its original seat either near the Oxus or in Caucasia, and is in fact about the same as the Caucasian race, extending, therefore, from the Ganges to the Atlantic, and across the American continent. The family of the Great Bharata, which afterwards extended its conquests all over India, had then many traditions of a hero or Raja, who had established a great dominion among the native black population. The seat of government was on the Ganges or Jumma, about sixty miles above Delhi. There was a city called Histinapur, which formed his capital, with a large population of all sorts of people, living chiefly in bamboo and mud or brick houses. It had a large palace of considerable strength, built square, with one side for the men, and the other for the women, as now in the East, the gate of entrance and justice in front and the kitchens in the rear.

At this time there were no marked divisions of caste, and the great Bharata was born from the union of a warrior chief with the daughter of a Brahmin. The manner of living was very simple at this period, and the worship not so complicated as it became when a separate caste of Brahmins rose to power. Each chief could conduct his own worship, though often he seemed to have a chaplain or Brahmin. While it is possible that a few of the hymns may refer to the worship of one Supreme God, yet generally, in India, Varuni, the God of the Firmament and of the Waters, was prayed to for rain; Agri, the God of Fire, Surya, the Sun, or Soma, the Moon or Vayer, the God of Wind, or Marutz, God of the Breezes, were the deities worshipped, with Yama, the God and Judge of the Dead and of Death. No idols or temples were then in use, but libations of curds and wine were offered to the gods, and sometimes buffaloes and horses were sacrificed. The sacrifices were generally connected with the morning, noon, or evening repast, or some great feast, and it is supposed, therefore, that the origin of these sacrificing is to be found in invoking the presence of the gods to the feast. Probably, the custom of giving thanks for food is thus to be traced to the earliest times of our race. The Vedic hymns are remarkably childlike and filial in their characters, and the Ayran race, in the highest development, seems to have been monotheistic, and tending to adhere to one wife. Simple, pastoral, brave with large flocks, they prospered and spread over India, conquering the black aborigines, but, in doing so, adopted caste, of which the Brahmins become the chief and the warriors the next, and becomes filled with increasing superstitions. But while such were the best aspirations of the Vedic period, their gods commonly appealed to, even in this age, were the pictures probably of their own more common characters. India, their great protector, was a mighty warrior, very partial to strong drink, the hero and protector of the fair-complexioned Ayrans, and the enemy and destroyer of the black-complexioned aborigines. He has horses and chariots, and bows and arrows, always ready to befriend the whites and destroy the blacks.

All classes have their friends, and there are races of serpent-worshippers, and there prayers for housebreakers and thieves, beseeching the God of Sleep that the master of the house and all the family, and the servants in the court yard, and the dogs, may all quietly while the robbers steal. Then, too, polygamy and slavery gradually became common, and produce the same evils ever found to arise from them, everywhere and in all ages. In fact, with the conquest and degradation of the lower race the corruption of the higher began, and it went on, notwithstanding the attempted reformation by the Boodhists, untill Hindostan, conquered by Mohammed, and again conquered by a new white race, is what it is at this day. The work of Mr. Wheeler is worthy of being republished in this country, but it wants reediting, so as to give a view of this earliest picture of human nature, as perfect as can possibly be obtained from contemporaneous legends. It all shows how slowly, spirally, but certainly, the human race improves.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A CENTER SHOT.—Henry Ward Beecher, in a sermon delivered in Plymouth Church recently, produced the following picture: [illegible] often you will find men who have made themselves respected by labor, have built up business and amassed a fortune, who turn to their sons and say: "You shall never do as I did; you shall lead a different life; you shall be spared all this." Oh, these rich men's sons. They aim to lead a life of emasculated idleness and laziness. Like the polyp that floats useless and nasty upon the sea, all jelly, all flabby, no muscles, no bone—it shuts and opens, and opens and shuts, and sucks in and squirts out again, of no earthly account, influence, or use. Such are these poor fools. Their parents toiled and grew strong, and built up their forms of iron and bone; but denying this, to their sons, they turn them upon the world boneless, simple gristle, soft at that.

A LETTER, written in the atmosphere of antiquity which envelopes the English town of Oxford, reduces our modern notions of what is old to very small proportions. Oxford has been a seat of learning since 740, when a monastery was founded there. There still remains a part of the cathedral which was built in 1120. What is called the "New College," was founded in 1386. St. Mary Magdalen's College was established in 1456, and Christ College in 1525. The church of St. Peter's was built in 1150. The Bodleian Library is nearly four and a quarter centuries old.

THERE is a small Episcopal church in Philadelphia called by church-going citizens "The Church of St. James the Less." Irreverent street boys, however, style it "The Little Jimmy." Another church in the same city, to the construction of which Jay Cooke contributed largely, is known as "The Church of the Holy Five-twenties."

MR BERTHEMY, the French Minister, is engaged to marry a Washington widow, and will retire from diplomatic services next spring. Mr. De Ferriote, his first Secretary of Legation, has also formed an engagement of a similar character with another Washington lady.

THE only daughter of Mr. Spotted Tail, the celebrated Indian chief, is named Lizzie Euphemia Pocahontas. She is "finishing her education" at Omaha. She is learning to sing in Italian and play the piano.

THE new fashion, called the "death's head robe," does not succeed. It is a black ground worked over with white skulls in silver thread and the bottom is looped with big dropping tears. Cheerful!

A Battery of Vital Force.

What could be more desirable than to possess the power to made the old young again, and to made the week and feeble strong and healthy at will? Mons. Martin Ziegler, of Paris, has discovered the secret, and secured the possession by Patent No. 2,536, dated October 3d, 1866. It is not reasonable to except that the brilliant genius, which after long and earnest study has secured such a wonderful prize, will communicate to an eager world a secret of such value without a proper recompense, hence we are ignorant of the process employed by him. Yet he has vouchsafed to explain that "whenever azote and carbon are brought into contact, whether an azoted body be a carbonated body, or even a body strongly azoted and another which is only feebly azoted, there is disengaged an imponderable fluid, the presence of which is made known by particular effects on the organism of living things, animal or vegetable. This fluid, which the inventor calls the vital or organic fluid, is thus a new agent generated in the midst of chemical circumstances, like heat, light and electricity. It is collected, manifested and transmitted by curents like the electric fluid."

One method of producing the "vital fluid" is thus described: "A porous vessel or bladder is filled with caustic ammonia, and immersed up to the neck in molasses contained in an ordinary vessel; a silk thread is attached to the neck of the porous vessel or bladder, and the end of the second silk thread is placed in the molasses; the two ends of the silk threads being connected, the circuit is closed, and the current of vital fluid passes; its effects will become manifested on an organized being in the line of the current. If a certain number of these elements are gathered in couples, a dozen for example, by plunging the thread from the ammonia of the first element, in the molasses of the following element, and so on, or by connecting, on the one side, all the [illegible] powerful current will be obtained, which produces on an animated being very considerable effects."

How very simple! caustic ammonia and molasses connected by a silken threads forms a battery of vital forces, which will give off "imponderable fluid" that is destined to rejuvinate the old, and made the young skip with new joys derived from an exuberance of vitality. We picture to ourselves the tottering steps and shriveled limbs of the scarce "animated being" who will seek the patentee's laboratory, his stock of "vital fluid" well nigh exhausted, and we see him return, after a brief exposure to the lifegiving treacle, with the energy and fire of manhood's prime, and with a stock of "vital fluid" enough to last for another fifty years! We see the wrinkled features and bony frame of the old maid whose vital force is nearly spent, assume once more the bloom and gaiety of sweet sixteen, simpering and blushing among her attentive beaux.

We will not ask how many pounds of treacle would be required to bring a man of seventy back to twenty, nor what royalty Mons. Ziegler asks for the use of his invaluable patent. It is enough that we may be young again. We care nothing for the expense. Who would?

THE Strasburg line of railway has just introduced a new "carriage." It is, in fact, a three-story railroad car. The ground story is the first class; the second class is as second, and the third above.

The Daily Union Vedette.

MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 7, 1867.

P. L. SHOAFF, Publisher and Proprietor.
DANIEL McLAUGHLIN, Editor.

Valedictory.

With this issue of the VEDETTE our connection with it as editor, ceases. We have endeavored to discharge our duty as a journalist, to the best of our humble ability. We have aimed to maintain and encourage what we judged to be right; and discountenanced and condemned what we considered to be wrong. The columns of the paper were always open for the correction of mistakes and errors when any such had crept in, and we tried to be impartial in giving our view on all matters of public importance, and to advance the public good.

In retiring, we desire to say that it is with a view of bettering our financial condition that we leave the chair editorial in the VEDETTE office, and for no other reason. It would be unmanly to withdraw without at this time, correcting some rumors that were reported as current in Idaho and the East, about our life having been threatened, and that we were ordered to leave this city by the Mormons. Nothing could be farther from the truth than such fabrications. A residence of nearly a year in this city has not given us one instance of molestation or personal affront to record as having been offered to us; and we have traversed the streets at all hours of the day and night, when our business or pleasure required. We would have denied these rumors sooner, but did not desire to attach consequence to them by noticing them. The distinction of being considered a bravado or a persecuted editor will not apply in our case; and we decline to wear any such honors, here or elsewhere. We have tried to do our duty, and have been as free from intrusion or molestation as the most favored mortals of other localities could desire.

To the many kind friends of the VEDETTE, in and out of Utah, who have given their aid and encouragement to it during the period that we occupied the tripod, and to the members of the press, East, North, and of it, and extended to it such flattering and complimentary notices, we return our warmest thanks, and beg that they may continue to aid and assist the continuance of the VEDETTE as an independent, American journal, in Utah.

To our personal friends in Salt Lake City, we owe grateful acknowledgements for their many manifestations of kindness and regard; and in bidding them adieu it is with feelings of regret, and affectionate remembrance,

DANIEL McLAUGHLIN.

Conference.

Notwithstanding the vast amount of room in the new Tabernacle, and the great number of people that it will seat, thousands yesterday were unable to obtain admission, and came away disappointed. The accoustic principles upon which the roof of that structure is erected does not meet the approval of many who were there. They say that at least one half of the speaker's words were inaudible a short distance from the stand—that the sound of their voices was indistinct, although the speakers are known to be capable of making themselves heard at a reasonable distance. It seems that this oval or semi-oval structure is at war with the experience of the world's most noted architects on the theory of reflecting and conveying sounds. Two of the finest railroad depots in the State of New York—one at Buffalo and one at Troy—are constructed on the same principle as this immense tabernacle, and the noise of the whistle and escaping of steam, as well as that produced by the rattling and rumbling of the ponderous iron wheels as they roll through it on the rails, is less distinct than in any other kind of a structure in the country. This defect can be remedied, we suppose, by the introduction of approved sounding boards.

During yesterday the wind and dust was terrific, and nearly as bad inside the new building as outside. To-day it has been disagreeably wet and cold.

It is a recent discovery, says an exchange, that if a stable is kept clean, cows will go into it of their own accord. If dirty, they have to be driven in.

RIOLY is an unfortunate place. Within the past year it had two epidemics and a rebellion, and is now suffering from a famine.

DIVIDED IN OPINION.

In spite of all efforts to reconcile the President of the Church and the President of the Twelve to the same notion of things, they will differ. Orson Hyde gave utterance to the following opinion on Sunday afternoon:

"Now Our Father in Heaven is the same to-day as then, for the men of God who do as they are counseled, have the same faith as the ancient saints. Now many of our young people have been taken away from us, but the Lord has prepared a place for them, and they are now ministering angels unto us. Now you can contemplate upon these things. Jesus said unto his disciples, suffer them to come unto me. Now those that are taken away by the destroyer are only waiting to take upon them bodies again. Now Joseph Smith spoke many things at different times concerning the coming of Christ, but it does not matter to the good Saint whether it be in 20 years or 200 years, if he is keeping the commandments of God it is all right when he does come. God bless you."

There is something of the old Pythagorean theory of transmigration of souls in that; and Brother Brigham did not drink it in as "words of wisdom," but at once demolished Hyde's remarks. He said:

"I want to say a few words, now. You have heard what Brother Hyde has said upon the subject of the resurrection, I want to tell you all, that neither Brother Hyde nor anybody else can tell you anything about it. Paul tried to tell something, but he could not do it. I know as much as any of them; and I know nothing about the resurrection. All that I know is to preach the gospel of Christ. I want ye mothers to teach your children how to live and how to gather the things around them to make them happy."

It will be seen that there is no "oneness," about their views on the resurrection. Great men will differ sometimes, on some things.

Mineral Wealth of the Rocky Mountains.

It has heretofore been the belief of otherwise well informed persons that the Rocky Mountain ranges of this latitude were comparatively barren of the precious metals, that such a belief was not founded in fact is being demonstrated daily. For several years past, rumors have, from time to time, reached the mining public of rich deposits of trappers and others, but such rumors were very generally discredited, or at best, found few believers.

The recent discovery of the extensive belt of rich gold bearing quartz on the tributaries of the Sweetwater is owing directly to the belief of a very few resolute prospectors in the truth of these rumors, and we may now confidently look for a further confirmation of like reports of rich diggings in other sections, through the agency of the old and experienced miners and prospecters who are now flocking into that region. Experience teaches us that when once that class of men get into a mineral country their discoveries are not confined to any one particular section of it.

It has long been known to a few that extensive beds of coal and iron exist in this range, but owing to their distance from market and other causes, little or no attention has been bestowed upon them. Coal oil springs giving forth an abundance of oil of finest quality, abound on Bear River and its tributaries, and when Railroad communication is opened up with that section and men of capital and experience in working the same get in, we may expect results that will astonish and enrich the country.

God hath wrought nothing without a wise purpose, and these Rocky Mountain ranges are destined to become a source of wealth and happiness to man, instead of a mere barrier to his progress east and west.

[From the Reese River Reveille.]

San Francisco, October. 2.

A meeting of the Industrial Immigrant Aid Association was held last evening. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That this Association respectfully request Dr. R. Townsend Huddart to deliver a lecture at Platt's Hall, on the best mode of promoting immigration to this State.

Resolved, That we apply to the Legislature of California for an act to constitute a Board of Commissioners, with an annual appropriation of at least $100,000, to superintdnce an immigration from Europe, and to aid and protect immigrants on their arrival in California.

Messrs. Provost and Newman addressed the meeting upon the subject of silk culture, and of the condition, working and wants of the silk factory at San Jose. The building remains to be erected, but the machinery is already on the ground. When completed the factory will be 80 feet long, 45 feet wide and two stories high, of brick, to be furnished with a steam engine of 15 to 20 horse power. They require $50,000, which they propose to raise by a joint stock capital in shares of $100 each, to commence in California the manufacture of silk.

Gold closed at 144 in New York to-night. Flour, $13.50; California wheat, $3.10; California wool, 19@27.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.

Sedgley & Davis' tannery and wool dressing establishment, on the block bounded by Harrison, Folsom, Nineteenth and Twentieth streets, was destroyed by fire last night. Owing to the distance and the difficulty of getting water, the engines did not get to work for an hour after the alarm was given. Some ten or twelve buildings destroyed. The loss is about $100,000.

Hawaiin advices state that the king opened the Legislative Assembly in person, Sep. 2d, for the purpose of ratifying the reciprocity treaty with the United States. On Sept. 10th the treaty was ratified by an almost unanimous vote.

The whaleship Congress was lost in Anadyr Sea, May 15th.

The news from Tahiti announces the loss of the missionary bark John Williams. The orange crop of the Society Islands is good.

The Helena Herald of October 1st has the following:

THE GALLATIN MURDER.—It is thought that the four men who murdered J. D. Davidson, at Elk Grove on the 12th ult., are known. They were citizens of the valley and are supposed to belong to a band of road agents, perhaps the same as that of which Charles Wilson, recently hung in Virginia City, was a member. Three of them have not been since the murder, and are supposed to be in Salt Lake. The fourth still remains in the country as a kind of a spy. His movements are closely watched. Further facts in our possession must be suppressed for the present.

FROM THE FRONT.—Col. Neil Howie, Capt. Curtis and Lieut. Small arrived in this city from the front yesterday afternoon. They bring reports up to Saturday night, substantially confirming the statements already published in the Herald. It is said that many men, who would not otherwise have joined the rebels, were induced to do so by the assurance that a prospecting expedition of three weeks duration was alone contemplated, and that at the end of that time all Government property was to be returned. It seems, however, to have been the intention of the leaders of the revolt to entice as many men as to stampede the stock and appropriate it to themselves, or at least this suspicion haunted the rebels themselves, and they are now rapidly dividing up into small parties, and will, in a few days, be entirely disorganized. Of the two hundred men that Capt. Hughs, the leader of the rebels, had attached to him in the first instance, only about 60 remain, the rest having started off in small bodies on their own hook, or returned to their commands. It is believed that some, but by no means all, of these will form themselves into plundering squads for the purpose of living on the country. All company organizations among the rebels are done away with, Capt. Hughs being recognized as sole commander. The 25 who mutined, left for the States by way of Fort C. F. Smith. To-day, between 80 and 90 of the faithful troops will arrive on the Prickly Pear, and soon to be mustered out. These troops belong principally to the command of Captain Mallock, which had not proceeded further than Bozeman when it was turned back. We shall give further particulars in our next issue.

The Post of Oct. 1st has the following:

It is rumored that the Vigilantes have hung two men at Jack's Ranch, near Bozeman.

William Johnson was killed on the 30th ult., while working in a cut in a mining claim.

A Grand Masonic celebration is in prospective. The procession, Installation, Oration by Governor Smith and the ball occurred on Thursday the 10th, the Dedication of the Temple and Address by Chief Justice Hosmer on the 12th of October.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Wm. H. Taylor, Superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co's line, arrived in Virginia from Salt Lake on last Thursday, and has been lying very ill with billious fever. We are pleased to learn that he is now recovering, and hope he will soon be on duty again. Under his efficent management the express line from Salt Lake to Benton approaches as near perfection in speed, safety, regularity and the accommodative spirit manifested toward patrons as any line need seek to attain, and gives satisfaction to all. Colonel Insley, editor and proprietor of the Leavenworth Conservative, who has been doing business in Montana for some months, left for home per Sunday's coach. The best wishes of a host of friends accompany and abide with him, like the memory of his sins. Speed, safety, friends and fun. Messrs. R. H. Robertson and George H. Bodenburg, Gentiles, and withal gentlemen, came in from Salt Lake on Saturday, and will abide with us until after the Grand Lodge communication next week. They represent Wasatch Lodge, Salt Lake City, now under dispensation from the Grand Lodge of Montana and flourishing like a green bay tree.

THREE OF US.—The Langrishe troupe is creating a sensation in Montana, and are receiving much more favorable notices than in Salt Lake City. The Post is very warm in their praise.—Denver News, September 17.

The above is all true; but we are certainly not to be charged with inappreciation. The people in Montana needed the Langrishe troupe, and we happened not to be in that position Langrishe is a jovial, honorable, good-hearted fellow, and we like him—so far as he went. But, in addition to our own excellent stock company, the Couldocks were here. We couldn't help that.—Salt Lake Telegraph, Sept. 26.

The Salt Lake Theatre is a church institution—the company Mormons and Mormonesses. The Telegraph is a church paper, getting more so every day, and the editor a devotee of Polygamy. Mormonism is a mutual admiration society—selfish, exclusive and uncharitable to outsiders. Langrishe did not "went" far enough in matrimonial alliances to suit the fastidious tastes and elicit encomiums from the faithful. It won't do to throw off on Langrishe because the Couldocks were there. "Bro. Stenhouse" did not recognize their abilities until they had gone, and the admission that he "couldn't help their being there" explains the full column editorial laudation by which he signalizes their departure. The assertion that we "needed the Langrishe troupe and the Saints did not" is proof cumulative that the sick man of Utah is not competent to prescribe remedies for himself, although kind enough, by inadvertency, to state that Montana can appreciate enterprise, good theatricals, and clever people who only marry once at a time.

From Julesburg.

From the Frontier Index of the 27th ult., we get the following items:

Fuel at Cheyenne will be scarce and enormously high this winter.

Lots in Cheyenne have come down from $2,500 to $800 within the last ten days.

Soldiers, regiment after regiment are pouring into Julesburg. A large force is to be sent out on the Powder River route.

The Frontier Index rolls on to Cheyenne to-morrow. Our exchanges will please address the Index at Cheyenne, Dakota Territory.

A corps of troops are to be scattered along the U. P. R. R. at an early day to protect the road against threatened Indian raids.

Thousands of tons of hay are being mowed in the Platte valley. The four-horse power reapers are going from fed this winter.

We suggest Rocky Mountain City, as an appropriate name for the new railroad town to be located west of Fort Saunders, on the Big Laramie, North Platte or Green river. It will probably be the great mining depot of the West.

The U. P. R. R. is piling down the bridges over Pole Creek, between Antelope Station and Stone Ranche. Next week Casement Bro's will get through with the bridge work and go on with the track to the Black Hills, at the rate of three miles a day. The road will reach Cheyenne by the 29th of October.

FROM CARIBOO.—In a letter to the Lewiston (I. T.) Journal from Cariboo, B. C., the writer, speaking of the mines, says:

"This is the worst country I have ever gotten into yet, and I hope soon to be out of it. Besides being pretty nearly worked out and very dull, I don't like the people nor the government. There are very few claims paying in the whole mining district of Cariboo at this time. Those that would pay if their owners could work them, are in the hands of men who have jumped them and are holding them by force, and stealing all the time, right in the face of the authorities, who are not strong enough to eject them. I don't want to hear about English laws and the strictness with which they are enforced any more. It's all a humbug, if this country is a sample of the English country generally."

Out Again.—Sumner & Co. are out with the announcement of great sales this week. Read their adv.

Theatrical.—The Langrishe troupe is greeted with a full house every night of its performance in Montana.

Bakers Broma for sale at J. Bauman & Co.s 30-tf

Bur-r-r.—Isn't it getting chilly all at once. We will soon have to make a requisition for an overcoat if this weather lasts.

Plows.—J. D. Arthur & Son, of San Francisco, Cal., want to sell some plows and agricultural implements to the people of the Territories. Read their adv.

Fruit.—They are raising fruit near Lewiston, I. T., which will compare favorably with that raised in California. Oh! what a desert this Rocky Mountain country is!

Another.—The Chicago Post contains this: "The Daily Salt Lake Vedette has been enlarged to twenty-four columns, and is as neat looking as it is vigorous and salty in its strictures on the Mormons."

Without Number.—Any amount of babies at the huge Tabernacle yesterday. They had nice little time of it. A perfect nursery. But the polygamists love the domestic organ, so we best say nothing about it, and, besides, we think it's not our "put it."

Snow.—The mountains are clothed in a robe of white, which reminds us of the declaration of a Saint last winter: "This people are as pure, virtuous and innocent as the snow on those mountains, and we don't want any corruption in our midst." That was an unsophisticated speaker; he hadn't been weaned long.

Three of us.—Under this heading in the Montana news, the theatre here is rightly set down. The Post is posted, you bet. That "ostensible" of our friendly (?) contemp. gets quite a rub. We commend it to the perusal of the Telegraph. Let's hear from your side of the house. We'll bet you will think you are slandered.

Ho! for Cheyenne!—The editor of this paper leaves here to-morrow for Cheyenne City, where he intends to permanently locate—for a while. Having gathered wisdom from the church leaders here, he has become avaricious and sordid to a commendable extent, and proposes to try his hand at money making—honestly, if possible, but determined at all hazards to make it.

Lubricating Oil.—We were shown yesterday by Mr. White, of the firm Sumner & Co., samples of his lubricating oil. It is by far a better article of petroleum than is obtained in the Eastern States—having at least 11 per cent less coke and tar in its composition. It is obtained from his oil springs about 85 miles east of here on Sulphur Creek. Mr. White has machinery on the ground for the purpose of manufacturing coal oil; and expects ere long to manufacture that article of light and illumination in large quantities, and supply the wants of the mountain towns in that regard at a great reduction from present rates.

Green River, October 4, 1867.

Editor Vedette:—Nothing ever transpires worthy of a place in your columns from this peaceful locality, and I fear I am intruding by asking permission to announce the death of a Wells, Fargo & Co. man that came to my knowledge a few days since. An old driver, well known in this country, named Louis Burke, while removing his fire-arms from the boot of a coach at Sulphur Springs, accidentally knocked the hammer of his revolver against some of the coach irons, whereupon it went off, the ball entering somewhere in the abdomen, causing his death in a very few minutes.

As there is nothing else of importance to communicate I shall conclude by subscribing myself, Very respectfully,
J. A. G.

☞ This is truly the "age of progress," and the American people are beyond doubt, far ahead of all others. This is clearly demonstrated by the Sewing Machine—which is, strictly speaking, an American invention.

In this branch of manufacture, the EMPIRE SEWING MACHINE CO., office 615 Broadway, New York City, stands pre-eminent. Their "Improved Manufacturing Machine" has no rival. It is built on sound mechanical principles—is simple in construction—easily understood, and not liable to get out of order.

Its sewing qualities, particularly on cloth and leather, cannot be equalled; and as such we recommend it to our friends and the public generally.

ELASTIC STITCH

FAMILY

SEWING MACHINES,

Are the best in Use,

FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

They are more simple and durable easier kept in order, make a stronger and more elastic stitch, a firmer and more beautiful seam than any other. They sew all fabrics from two common spools, require no re-winding of thread, fasten both ends of the seam by their own operation, and though every fifth stitch is cut the seam will not rip.

They Stitch, Hem, Fell, Cord, Bind, Tuck, Quilt, Gather, Braid, and Embroider. No other machine Embroiders, as well as Sews perfectly.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbons' Dispensary,

616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any other injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blotched intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

TO THE LADIES.

The various complicated and distressing diseases incident to females, treated with eminent success. Such as Suppressions, Irregularities, Whites, Falling of the Womb, Tumors, all Urinary Diseases, Nervous Debility, Painful or Difficult Menstruation, Barrenness, etc., will be speedily cured, without poisonous drugs, injuries or unpalatable medicines of any kind. Have no delicacy in calling, no difference what your troubles may be. The afflicted are cordially invited to call and satisfy themselves.

Persons calling at Dr. Gibbon's office or sending for packages of medicines, may rely upon his assurances of confidential secrecy with implicit faith, and expect no more than to be charged with a fair, and mutually satisfactory remuneration for services rendered, considering the circumstances and difficulties of cases, rather than a too prevalent and selfish practice of extortion among quacks and pretenders.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use. By enclosing $15 in currency in a registered letter, through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded by express to any part of the Union.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Consultation FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the VEDETTE. 9-10-1y

Spermatorrhœa.

DR. DOHERTY has just published an important pamphlet embodying his own views and experience in relation to Impotence or Virility, being a short treatise on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Nervous and Physical Debility consequent on this affection and other diseases of the Sexual Organs.
